MEET KARLTON

Karlton Butts is not your typical leadership speaker. He's a former musician turned executive advisor who brings the power of music to the art of leadership. With a diverse background in engineering, law, consulting, and executive development, Karlton delivers keynote experiences that are both insightful and energizing.

From the stage to the boardroom, Karlton has mastered the rhythm of leadership and now helps others do the same. His engaging keynotes reveal how music offers a powerful framework for building stronger teams, aligning with purpose, and leading with authenticity.

Audiences leave with practical tools to improve engagement, foster innovation, and scale with clarity. Whether he's helping companies find their tempo, harmonize culture, or unlock creativity, Karlton makes leadership lessons memorable, meaningful & actionable.
